FxWirePro™ by EconoTimes is a fast-growing professional grade real-time Forex newsfeed service providing Forex traders with a comprehensive overview and insight of the global currency markets in real time.

The service is built on EconoTimes' global backbone network of journalists from 5 countries. Expert Forex analysts and journalists convey the key Currency market moving news and events in the shortest and most succinct format possible. FxWirePro™ is the only professional Forex Newsfeed service to remove all the unnecessary "information noise" and deliver precise, high quality, currency market related news in a truly trader friendly format.

Forex traders often face information overload and do not have time to crawl through paragraphs of text and find the relevant information needed to place winning trades. FxWirePro™ was conceived with the Forex trader in mind. The unique style of FxWirePro™ has already helped many traders grasp market-moving news in the shortest possible time and be on top of the market.

EconoTimes FxWirePro™: A UNIQUE NEWSWIRE FOR THE MODERN DAY FX TRADER

FxWirePro™, the Forex newswire service by EconoTimes was conceived and developed with the Forex (retail and professional) traders in mind to solve two major impediments of existing newswires.

Issues with existing newswire services

1) Information Overload

It is well known that traders often suffer from information overload. They are faced with lengthy paragraphs and phrases that consume valuable time to grasp the core tradable information. This often leads to important news being ignored by the traders.

2) Information Noise

Many newswires flood their wire service with news items for the sake of keeping the newswire rolling. Often such news items provide no value to the trader and can even distract them from focusing on more important news.
